GLASS MEN GET 5 CENTS RAISE

Pittsburgh Firm Boosts Pay of 12,000 and Eliminates Differentials.

EFFECTIVE IN 20 PLANTS

Agreement Halts Threatened Walkout of Workmen in Six of Company's Shops.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27—Union-ized flat glass workers claimed an important wage victory today as the $100,000,000 Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. agreed to a five cents an hour increase for its 12,000 em-ployes and elimination of all pay differentials between plants.

The increase is effective for one year in the company's 20 plants throughout the United States, re-troactive to Nov. 16.

Glenn W. McCabe, 43-year-old president of the Federated Flat Glass Workers, announced the pact, which hailed a threatened walkout of union members in six of the company's plants. The men had agreed to a 48-hour truce to per-mit further negotiations.

Union Very Exclusive

McCabe for eight years has head-ed the exclusive Glass Cutters un-ion, whose members teach their trade only to sons or brothers. He claims a total membership of 12,000 workers in several companies.

The Flat Glass federation is an industrial union—embracing all workers in a single industry—affil-iated with the American Federation of Labor.

In winning the major wage agree-ment, McCabe said the federation did not press for a closed shop.

He added, however, the company recognized the federation as collec-tive bargaining agent for its mem-bers and gave permission to collect dues in the plants.

Up to 76 Cents

He said the average wage of Pittsburgh plate workers now is 71 cents an hour and the five-cent in-crease will make it 76 cents. He added the company agreed there will be no wage differentials, re-gardless of whether plants are lo-cated in the east, south or west.

Workers representing six plants at Ford City and Creighton, Pa., Mt. Vernon, O.; Henrietta, Okla.; Clarksburg, W. Va., and Crystal City, Mo., withdrew from a confer-ence Saturday.

They told company officials they would walk out at midnight Mon-day unless an agreement was reached.

Last night McCabe announced the two-day truce, saying that "I feel we are close together."

NO TURKEY DINNERS

Prisoners Sentenced For Theft Of Fowls Will Get Regular Fare.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 27—Tur-key thieves don't deserve turkey or chicken dinners on Thanksgiv-ing, Sheriff C. E. McKinnie be-lieves, and therefore the ordinary week-day menu will be served Thursday in the Delaware county jail. Annually chicken or turkey dinners with all the trimmings have been served to the prisoners but this year four Franklin county men, fined and sentenced for steal-ing turkeys from farms in the southeastern section of the county, are "guests" at the jail. Such be-ing the case, Sheriff McKinnie be-lieves turkey dinners would be out of place.

MOVE FOR TAX ON CHAIN STORE FAILS IN HOUSE

Committee Recommends Re-enactment of Liquid Fuel Levy for Another Year.

FOLLOWS LONG DEBATE

Revenue Sought from Mer-chants Set at $1,500,000 Annual Yield.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 27—The house taxation committee virtually killed today a proposed chain store tax and recommended re-enactment of a liquid fuel tax.

Defeat of the chain store levy proposal followed three hours of bitter debate. On a vote to recom-mend the measure to the house of representatives for passage, the vote was 7 yes, 10 no.

Field Set at $1,500,000

Reps. John Lehman, Democrat of Sandusky county and S. M. Frakes, Republican of Noble county, co-authors of the bill, esti-mated it would have provided $1,500,000 a year in revenue.

The committee recommended last night passage of a personal income tax bill, reenactment of the general sales tax, and repeal of the 45 per cent mandated free millage within the 10 mill limita-tion for schools.

In the face of Gov. Davey's plea for "no new taxes," the com-mittee recommended a personal income tax bill offered by Rep. P. E. Ward, Republican of Geauga. It would, he said, raise $20,000,000 annually.

Three Changes Offered

Recommendation for reenact-ment of the sales tax came with three amendments:

1—Eliminating the proposed termination date of March 31, 1937.

2—Exempting food after Dec. 31, 1936.

3—Exempting the trade-in value of used automobiles.

In addition, the allocation of 60 per cent of sales tax revenues for schools and 40 per cent for local governments and administration costs was retained. As proposed for reenactment, the bill made the distribution 70-30.

Rep. John Q. Carey, Democrat of Lucas, fought unsuccessfully for an amendment to exempt food im-mediately. This would reduce rev-enue by $10,000,000, he said. To offset this, he planned another amendment to raise $10,000,000 by taxing services.

Told that Gov. Davey would veto such amendments because of the $15,000,000 net increase, Carey retorted:

"I challenge him to veto it. He wouldn't dare."

On Basis of Needs

If the legislature approved re-peal of the 45 per cent mandated levy of free millage within the 10 mill limitation for schools, county budget commissions will allocate the free millage on the basis of needs. The Traxler-Kiefer school foundation law provides the mandated levy.

School and local government of-ficials contested all points of the recommended sales tax and man-dated levy repeal legislation in hearings.

Local government officials sought even division of the sales tax revenue and school officials fought for the 70-30 proposal.

Local government officials sought repeal of the mandated levy and school officials fought for their 45 per cent.

Ward's income tax bill had the indorsement of farmers and economists, but business men fought it.

JAPANESE TROOPS ENTER NORTH CHINA

Chinese Leaders Uncertain Whether They Should Secede from Nationalist Government.

(Copyright, 1935, Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 27—Japanese troops moved into north China by train-loads today while northern Chinese leaders wavered on the issue of secession from the central nationalist government.

Troop trains bearing 3,000 Jap-anese soldiers and war equipment arrived at Tientsin from Chinwang-tao, treaty port of Hopeh province.

At Peiping, where the Japanese garrison has more than doubled in the last 24 hours, Col. Tan Takashi, military attache, announced that the Fengtai railway junction, a few miles east of Peiping, had been seized.

Takahashi asserted the Fengtai occupation became necessary be-cause of rumors that rolling stock on the Peiping-Mukden railway was being moved south, jeopardiz-ing north China communications and threatening to isolate the Jap-anese forces at Peiping.

Marionites Prepare for Thanksgiving Observance

City Will Suspend Activities for Day; Church Serv-ices, Family Dinners To Mark Event.

In keeping with a custom estab-lished 314 years ago by the Pil-grims, who, happy with the bless-ings of their first year in a new land, held a feast of thanksgiving, Marion residents will suspend com-mercial activities on Thursday and join in the nation's observ-ance of an all-American holiday, Thanksgiving Day.

With the laying aside of busi-ness for the day interest will cen-ter around religious services, happy homecomings or journeys to other cities and hamlets where families and friends will celebrate with some form of gathering or entertainment. In addition to ar-riving guests, trains and busses will bear a bevy of college stu-dents taking advantage of the holiday and weekend vacation, the first since school opened in the fall. In the way of entertainment, Marion theaters are offering ex-cellent programs.

Five Marion churches will be open Thursday morning for special Thanksgiving services and in four of the city's church there will be pre-Thanksgiving services on Wed-nesday night.

Church Services.

Services have been announced by Rev. Father William J. Spicker-man, pastor of St. Mary Catholic church; Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church; the Marion County Ministerial associa-tion at the First Presbyterian church; Rev. J. W. Schillinger of the Emanuel Lutheran church; and the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

All services will be open to the general public, and visitors will be welcomed.

The union Protestant service at the First Presbyterian church will start at 10 a. m. with Rev. John W. Heistand of the First Reformed church delivering the sermon. ITALY SOUNDS WAR WARNING

Europe Recalls Duce's Recent Threat That Halted Oil Ban Discussion.

REPORT MAKALE RETAKEN

Fascists, on Other Hand, De-clare Enemy Putting Up Futile Resistance.

By DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The eastern African conflict be-tween Italy and Ethiopia engen-dered new European unrest today.

Sources close to the government of Premier Benito Mussolini said forceful resistance might be ex-pected if the League of Nations pressed for extension of sanctions against Italy.

Recalled were two statements descriptive of the situation on the northern side of the Mediterranean sea. One was that attributed to Mussolini only two days ago that the imposition of an oil embargo on Italy "would mean war." The other was that of Henry J. Allen of Kansas, former United States senator, who said six weeks ago after an interview with Il Duce that Mussolini was convinced "England means war."

Claim Makale Retaken

On the east African front, Ethi-opian reports—denied in Rome—of victories on the southern front were followed today with a com-munique at Addis Ababa saying 1,000 Italians occupying Makale on the northern front retreated yes-terday to Adigrat.

Italian advices were sharply contradictory. Ethiopians, they said, on the northern and southern fronts were putting up bitter, but ineffectual, resistance to the Fas-cist invaders.

In fact, said an official com-munique, the northern army has advanced slightly, the detach-ments basing at Dolo occupying the villages of Amentilla and Seshek. It added, operations con-tinue for occupation of Tembien, northwest of Makale.

Despite Rome's bitterness against sanctions, which were reported as being already felt by Italy, the United States appeared to be stiff-ening its vigorous stand against exports of essential war materials to belligerents, under the Roose-velt neutrality policy.

Quotas May Be Set Up

Authoritative sources in Wash-ington indicated a new step was under consideration—creation of a system of quotas which would limit the shipment of cargoes such as oil, copper, scrap iron and steel to warring nations.

As the League of Nations general staff of experts assembled at Geneva to examine the general sanctions situation—the projected oil embargo against Italy still in abeyance—the British cabinet met to debate the question of including

STOCK PRICES LITTLE HIGHER

Rails, Steels and Coppers in Fair Demand but Trade Pace Is Slow.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—Stock prices were inclined to point upward today, although pre-holiday inertia limited the ticker tape to a slow crawl.

The rails were in fair demand, along with some of the steels, coppers and merchandising issues. A few specialties exhibited quiet strength. The utilities and oils were about even to a shade lower.

Grains marked time and cotton was backward. Carrier loans were the best in the bond market. Foreign exchanges were without any exceptional feature, although the French franc improved.

Share gainers of fractions to around a point included New York Central, Santa Fe, Illinois Central, Louisville & Nashville, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Inland Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Case, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, American Smelting, Kennecott and American Can. By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—The giant Electric Bond & Share Co. announced dissolution of its "interlocking relationships with its holding and operating companies" today following institution of a suit by the securities and exchange commission seeking to compel it to register under the holding company act.

"Electric Bond & Shares is still a holding company as considered under the utilities act," Inch said.

Concerning Ebasco Services, Inc., he said: "It is just a service company. It does not own any properties. It is not a holding company."

G.O.P. LEADERS VISION VICTORY

Heartened by Indication of Split Between Davey and National Administration

SCHORR MOST OPTIMISTIC

Predicts Ohio Will Go Republican in Presidential Race, Fess Not So Enthused

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Nov 27—Two Ohio Republican leaders viewing renewed indications of a breach between Gov Davey and the national administration forecast today greatly enhanced G O P fortunes in this pivotal political state

One Chairman Ed D Schorr of the state executive committee went so far as to predict Ohio swinging Republican in the presidential election

The other former U S Sen Simeon D Fess was doubtful of mustering a majority of Ohio votes against President Roosevelt but regarded the state elections as almost certain

Cites Relief Criticism

As weakening factors in the Democratic party and evidence of a break between the state and national administrations Schorr and Fess cited

1—Davey's new criticism of the national administration's relief policy He declared a broken promise of federal relief authorities had precipitated a critical relief problem in Ohio

2—Former Lieut. Gov Charles Sawyer's announcement of candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination Reports have been current that the national administration would hiess Sawyer's candidacy if he entered the race

National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley asserted that the contest was 'a matter strictly up to the Ohio Democrats Sawyer's friends continued to hope nevertheless for word that he would be acceptable to the national Democratic organization

Says G O P Will Gain

From these said Schorr "it would be perfectly logical to predict that Republicans will profit.

More power to the Democrats for their troubles

"I firmly believe the Republicans will not only carry the state elections next year but Ohio will also vote Republican in the presidential battle"

"If Davey is nominated over Sawyer" Fess said "he will be so weak he will be easy to defeat. If Sawyer is nominated Davey men will be so angry that Sawyer will be defeated"

Davey promised President Roosevelt a solid Ohio delegation of his own choosing" for the 1936 Democratic convention But Davey did not visit the President when he passed through Ohio on his trip west several weeks later

Speculate On Future

Political circles recalling this speculated on whether Farley's hands off policy would be followed strictly

Sawyer reported a flood of congratulatory messages following his announcement. He said he expected to start formation of his campaign organization next week and indicated his campaign would open formally in January

Many of the messages he said came from rural areas Gov Davey has claimed strength "at the crossroads"

FARMER LOSES CASE INVOLVING SALES TAX

Supreme Court Rules Produce Sold in Cities Comes Under Ohio Law

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Nov 27—The Ohio supreme court upheld today the constitutionality of the sales tax law insofar as it requires farmers selling their produce in cities to collect the tax.

The ruling upholds the appellate court of Summit county which had held that Michael Fox a farmer selling his produce in the city of Akron must obtain a vendor's license and collect the tax from his customers

Fox had sought to enjoin Charles W Frank Summit county treasurer and the state tax commission from requiring him to obtain a vendor's license He contended the law is unconstitutional in requiring him to collect the tax on his sales while exempting farmers who sell their produce at their farms

The court dismissed the Fox petition on the ground that no debatable constitutional question is involved It also dismissed his petition for review of the lower court's decision on the ground of error

HOPKINS SEES RELIEF PROGRAM CONTINUING

Believes American People Will Never Let Destitute Shift for Themselves Again.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND O Nov 27—When the WPA ends next July the future of work relief will be up to congress but Harry L. Hopkins federal relief administrator believes the American people never will consider allowing the destitute to shift for themselves again

'I have my notions as to what ought to be done he said last night after a lecture here I believe there should not be any more direct relief There ought to be a more or less permanent work program

The federal government in the future should provide numerous types of security he said including decent old age pensions unemployment insurance employmen assurance including a continuous work program and retention of the CCC sick insurance and a guarantee of decent homes

In an interview however he said he believed the responsibility for caring for the unemployed from now on rested definitely with the states and local governments

He declined to comment on Gov Martin L. Davey's charge that relief authorities had broken faith with Ohio What that man has to say is not worth replying to Hopkins asserted

ROME WARNS LEAGUE AGAINST NEW BANS

such an embargo in the penalties already assessed against Italy

Observers commented that in this the British government faced what appeared to be one of the gravest decisions of the entire Italo-Ethiopian conflict Authoritative sources said the question of cutting off oil shipments to Italy over shadowed all other developments presented a new crisis for collective action and possibly provided a turning point in the career of the League of Nations

Envisins Strangulation

A spokesman for the Italian government said the addition of oil and coal embargoes to stern economic and financial penalties already applied would mean slow strangulation of the nation

He added the longer Italy awaited an attack by another European power the weaker she would be at a critical moment therefore it might be better to face a showdown while Italy still was fresh

Italy was sparing no energy in preparing for its war on two fronts in east Africa and at home Drill masters put their troops through their paces said a dispatch from Rome barking commands to men who were beginning to think in terms of war in Europe Civilians practiced new economies to combat the boycott of Italian goods

In Addis Ababa the government pursued its claims of victory with circulation of a proclamation by the high bishop of the Coptic Christian church calling for further defense of the empire Sources close to the palace said all Ethiopians would regard this as an official declaration of war against Italy

No Declaration Yet

The conflict as yet is without the official status of war

The proclamation was intended principally for the provinces where the government expected it to have an electrifying effect. The government insisted against Rome denials that Italians had evacuated the strategic southern centers of Corratiel and Gerlogubi retreating under the pressure of Ethiopian encircling movements.

Today's meeting in Geneva was for the purpose of determining whether the sanctions as proclaimed by the coordination committee of 5° nations are being carried out effectively

Of interest to the east African situation was Premier Pierre Laval's fight to save his government in France Postponement of consideration of the oil embargo was due in part to Laval's being occupied with internal problems Today he strengthened his hopes of saving his cabinet from overthrow informed sources said by pinning his government to the golden franc.

COURT RULES CITIES MUST PAY ALL BONDS

Meeting of Obligations Held Necessary Even If They Are Left Without Funds

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O, Nov 27—Cities and other political subdivisions must pay their bonded debts the state supreme court ruled today even if to do so they are left without funds for current operations The court accordingly ordered the village of Brooklyn (Cuyahoga county) to pay its debts

The decision was one of the most sweeping ever made with respect to political subdivisions defaulting on their outstanding bonds It requires that the village apply all money in its treasury not appropriated for other purposes to payment of interest accruals and past due bond principal

It sweeps into the future by compelling the village to make sufficient tax levies within the 10-mill limitation to pay all past due bond service charges and if that is insufficient to make additional levies outside the 10-mill limitations but within the 15-mill limitation to discharge the obligations

The decision is expected to have a similar application to the city of Akron and all other municipalities which have defaulted on their funded debts An action to compel the city of Akron to act in the same as the Brooklyn officials now is pending before the court

Fred E Brumi a holder of some of the defaulted Brooklyn village bonds brought the suit in mandamus to compel the village officials to make provision for payments The village contended that it could not pay the bond service charges and have anything left for current operations Consequently it permitted the bonds to go by default both as to interest and principal payments An identical situation is presented in the pending Akron case

HOOVER AGAIN FLAYS NEW DEAL LEADERS

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO Nov 27 — A realistic return to American ideals to preserve true American liberalism was demanded today by Former President Herbert Hoover in an address prepared for delivery at a Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon

'American liberalism is not regimentation Mr Hoover declared It is not repression It is never coercion by bureaucrats

Liberty has gone down the suicide road of socialism and fascism in a score of nations he said

The infection of these ideas in to America have brought out nation to a dividing of the ways fateful to free men

And here is the clash of true American liberalism and its ideals with these imported social philosophies of government

It appears that to be a liberal today you must advocate currency or credit inflation although its ultimate destiny is destruction You must have faith in the efficacy of gigantic spending of deficits and of debts and of waste of public money You must advocate that the government edge into a system of government dicted monopolies You must ardently believe that the government go into business You must believe in vast political bureaucracies"

Characterizing American liberalism as a great faith and a great philosophy that grew out of the American revolution Mr Hoover declared it is not the possession of any political party.

Gen Shang Chen wired his resignation as governor of Hopeh province to Nanking accepting responsibility for the failure to check the north China autonomy movement

His resignation aggravated further the northern crisis which arose originally from demands for self government in the five northern provinces of Hopeh Chahar Shansi Shantung and Shuyuan followed by establishment of an autonomous regime in the demilitarized zone including part of eastern Hopeh

Dr E L Brady president of the Marion County Anti Tuberculosis league Mrs Ulsh and Mrs W E Miley executive secretary today urged that the response be as speedy as possible in order that the Marion County league may go over the top of the 1935 goal of $1,560 before the Christmas holidays

Chiefly concerned with the prevention of the spread of tuberculosis the Marion County league carries on its campaign through the work of Miss Alma Denney county tuberculosis nurse

Miss Denney is kept busy from morning to night covering her territory in the city and county

One morning recently she arranged for sanitorium care of a patient suffering from an advanced case of tuberculosis From that home she went to visit parents whose son has already been in the Mt Vernon sanatorium six months and should stay at least another six months Her visit with them was to enlist their aid in encouraging the boy to stay the additional period

Next she arranged for the transportation of a 12-year-old girl to the Mt. Vernon sanatorium for examination of a suspected chest condition which was reported to Miss Denney by the family physician

Lastly she called on a 10-year old girl who has had six months treatment at Mt Vernon and arranged for her to return to the sanatorium for a routine check up

The afternoon Miss Denney spent in making appointments with the sanatorium for receiving the patients she had visited in the morning

SAYS RELIEF PLAN WON'T WORK HERE

Commissioner Declares Delinquent Taxes Would Not Finance Program

A recent suggestion of Carlton Darguseh vice chairman of the state tax commission that vigorous collection of delinquent taxes be launched by counties to provide funds for direct relief when the federal government steps out was labeled as impossible in Marion county today by Leo J Cusic a member of the board of county commissioners

A great majority of the tax bills could not be collected and the little bit that might come in would be a drop in the bucket toward financing a poor relief program Cusic declared The commissioner said that was his personal opinion and that he was not speaking for the commissioners as a body

Cusic indicated that the Darguseh suggestion would be given no consideration in Marion county Virtually all those who are able to pay their delinquent taxes did so before the penalties went on he said By scanning the list of those who owe we might find a few who are in position to pay but the amount derived from their collection would be too small to even begin to finance the relief program, he added

Delinquent taxes when collected must be divided among the various sub-divisions that are entitled to share in the collections The city is asking for bids now on $125-500 worth of deficiency bonds to liquidate city indebtedness retirement of which will come from its share of delinquent taxes Cusic explained

Darguseh in making his suggestion took the same stand as Gov Martin L Davey in contending that the problem of caring for the needy is a local one which does not belong to the state, according to news dispatches Darguseh asserted that a substantial portion of the money needed for relief may be readily and quickly collected by a vigorous campaign

ABOUT ANYTHING

IN AND AROUND MARION

Too Many Questions

Pardon me, if we two reporters seemed taken back the other day but even snoopy newspaper people rarely come upon such rich answers.

He was in to report one meeting and before he quit talking to one member of the editorial staff another tackled him for a bit of family information to be used in another story

"How many children have you?" questioned the biographer

The man looked blank As a sheet of unlined paper "Why a" he stammered, "I don't know Goan it's been such a long time—10 no maybe 12—(the reporters were beginning to snicker)—to tell you the truth I'll have to go home and ask my wife"

By that time the scribes were too amused to hold back gales of laughter as it suddenly dawned on them that the question had been understood to be "How many years have you been married?"

Practical Club

Probably this should be in the society column, but the editor was prevailed upon and thus it reaches this column.

There is a new club in town the "Knit a Stitch" group which meets weekly on Monday afternoon

The members are six girls all about 12 years of age who are sixth grade pupils at the Pearl street school

If the knitting becomes a bit irksome the members admit to giving way to dancing and games

The present projects under way are two purses two scarves and two doll sweaters The girls all learned to knit at home taught by mothers or older sisters who have fallen in with the knitting craze

In the club are Doris Freeman Lois Augenstein Gloria Danner Ruth Bonen Genevieve Graham and Martha Porter

Search the Attic

The Vine Street Mystery probably never will be cleared up

Strayers out late returning home in the early morning hours were startled recently when they reached the 200 block on South Vine street to hear masculine yips of "Joe Joe get up" There's someone in the attic" A few seconds of silence and the cry was repeated

Soon the rays of a flashlight pierced the darkness of one of the homes in the hands it seemed of someone moving from one bedroom to another

Windows were up and another voice was heard arguing that no one could be in the attic but evidently the alarmed person prevailed and soon upstairs lights flashed on and two figures were sleuthing even examining the porch roof to make sure that no one was about.

Audience of 200 Sees Performance by New Harding Dramatic Groups.

About 200 guests, including pupils from the English classes, attended a presentation of two one-act plays by the Harding High school Dramatic club last night in the west assembly hall.

The plays were the first the club has produced since it was organized by Miss Annabelle Lee Jenkins, head of the speech department.

The first play, Stark Young's "Rose Windows," required an unusual stage setting to give three flashbacks as the play progressed. Three persons involved in a quarrel, a spinster and a young man and his sweetheart, each gave the story of the quarrel from his viewpoint and as the three versions were told, the reenactment was given at the other side of the stage.

James Fisher, Jr., directed the play, which was presented by Rosalind Walker, Roger Morgan, Charles Turner and Jean Williams.

The integrity of an official of a bank that failed, which won him a reward at a crisis in his life, was the theme of "Confidential," presented under the direction of Ivan Willauer, with Page Boyer, Vivian Weimer, Willard Holtz, Eunice Elsey, Ellsworth Stinehelfer and Mary Krisher in the cast.

The club probably will give two more plays before the Christmas holidays.

REVIVAL IS OPENED AT CALVARY CHURCH

Indiana Evangelist Preaches First Sermon Before Large Congregation.

A large audience was present last night at Calvary Evangelical church to hear the first of a series of revival sermons by Evangelist Forman Lincicome of Gary, Ind. He preached on "Wisdom as a Key word," taking his text from the first chapter of the Epistle of James.

"One reason there are so many non-church goers in Marion is because we have so many non-going churches," he said. He spoke in part as follows: "Religion without love is like a cloud without water, a furnace without fire, or a motor without electricity. Love is a thing that is imported to us. Love casts out fear, not all fear, but the carnal fear which is the fear of man.

"Our great need for this meeting is power—power to convict of sin. At Pentecost they had 10 days of prayer and the Apostle Peter preached one sermon. We have reversed that order today and preach 10 sermons and pray once. To work up a revival is mechanics, to pray down a revival we depend on dynamics."

Tonight the sermon will be "Calvary's Greatest Peril." Rev. William M. Davis, pastor, will conduct a "powerhouse" meeting at 6:45 p. m. in the Sunday school auditorium.

BUILDING PLANS AT A STANDSTILL

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Nov. 27—Action on the new municipal building was at a standstill Monday night when city council met because contractors interested were unable to bid under the estimate established by Architect William H. Unger of Bucyrus. Twelve contractors entered bids; three for the general contract, all of the latter three being over the estimate. The low set of bids totaled $33,483.80 without the stoker. The estimate by the architect was $26,352, the difference being $7,131.80. It will probably be necessary to readvertise for bids.

ACCENT ON MAN

Some people will regard marriage as a failure, just as long as it can't transform two selfish, shallow people into a pair of glamorous "great lovers."

• • •

Blind love is what makes a woman think that, when her husband has tired of doing all the things that he shouldnt do, he will take a new tack and begin doing all of the things that he promised her he'd do.

• • •

An optimist is a man who has just recovered from a baby-grande passion for the wrong woman, and fondly believes that he will be immune to all women for the rest of his life.

• • •

A man can make an awful clamor about the time and money his wife wastes at the beauty shoppe; but the barber has only to tell him that he's getting a little thin on top—and then watch the money roll out!

• • •

Some women live to enjoy a ripe old age. Others go in for youth-packs and plastic surgeons—and live to escape it.

• • •

Once a man fancies that he has a girl's heart "all wound up," he fondly thinks that it will go right on running like an electric clock, no matter how little attention he pays to it.

• • •

All these labor-saving inventions are welcome; but what the average wife needs, these days, is a reliable barometer which will tell her whether her husband is coming home like little "Merry Sunshine" or in a cloudburst of gloom or a storm of business excitement.

• • •

The ascent of man from bearded savagery to smooth-shaven civilization has been greatly aided by the dissent of woman, every time he tried to slide back.

• • •

Any debutante will tell you that there are only two kinds of men: those who admire her—and just plain bores.

He didn't bother to waste time turning his head. Instinct and action were twins of his brain. He ducked immediately and the fist of the Portuguese grazed the top of his head.

He spun around, jaw set in ridges. His fist connected with the point of a chin. There were yells. There were oaths. There was a man going down When Willett hit that was usually the next thing to happen

A crowd surged around them. The reputation of the Colseo was

Instinct and action were twins of his brain

that the first knife wins. The Portuguese was being jabbered at by his mates He got up and Terry, waiting for him with a tight little curve to his lips, knocked him kicking again

He knew what was next He knew it as his foe got up on one knee wiping his bloody mouth with one hand, the other creeping inside his coat and Willett didn't wait Hurling the table to one side, he seized a chair and jumped forward

The man whose fight had been taken right out of his hands watched, his teeth gnawing his knuckles There was a crash, a scream, and Terry stepped back

Quickly he surveyed the crowd then grabbing him by the elbow he hurried the white man through the milling throng and out into the cool night air The man leaned back against the wall and stared at him

"You killed him,' he nearly whispered

"Doubt it" said Terry shortly "Just draped his thick skull with a few unconscious thoughts If you think I'm going to be an assistant in a knife-throwing act, you're crazy"

The other was still staring at him his eyes slowly widening

"Willett! Aren't you Willett?" The exclamation was vibrant with sudden recognition

Terry regarded him thoughtfully "Would you mind telling me just who the hell you are?" he demanded "I nearly got my throat cut trying to find out"

"Speede—Tommy Speede How you, Willett" For God's sake, sit me down some place"

* * *

"Sorry to have been so much bother,' Speede said 'Too much kana—lousy' stuff, Willett!—makes absinthe seem like carbonated water How you, Willett?"

Terry clasped his hands across his stomach and leaned back in his chair, staring at Speede intently

Kana, eh? Getting drunk for three cents on that 'white eyed" poison Speede must be breaking up

Must be? As he sat here in the comparative privacy of the Santini Hotel bar, Terry could understand why he hadn't recognized Tommy Speede immediately The grin alone hadn't changed

"How'd you happen to land in the Coliseo?" he demanded.

"Just walkin' the streets," Speede said dreamily "Walkin' around and bumped into the door Hell of a place, isn't it? The whole country is a hell of a place. Have a drink?"

"Why don't you get out of these parts?" Terry asked steadily "Haven't you had enough?'

Speede suddenly laughed

"Enough! More than enough I hate every lousy tree in this country. And as for rocks—say, Willett, have you ever thought about rocks? You blast and sweat and strain to pulverize a rock and then what have you got? A nice big hole And then you blast and sweat and strain some more to fill in the hole with—what do you think?—rocks! Rocks!"

He laughed again and waved an arm at the waiter.

Will'ett hit his tip. Seeing Tommy Speede brought back memories of Bucky Corrigan, Spider Hance, Jack Curlee and others. He remembered now the Tommy Speede of those days two years ago who had been sent down by a big American engineering firm as 'rock" man to join the construction outfit blasting a road from Pontecilles to Jaurez.

That Jaurez job had been a tough one and Speede with his fresh cheeks his Irish grin and college degree had certainly received a baptism of fire

He was still seared He wasn't coming out of it. Why didn't he get out of the country before it was too late?' He was a sick man they're all sick when they dope themselves with kana.

'Easy,' Terry advised 'Take it slow."

Speede abruptly pulled himself together and the uncontrolled tone in his voice was lacking when he spoke again.

'Surprised to see you, Terry," he said 'What are you doing around here?"

Terry lit a cigaret

'Working up the river," he said non-committally 'Dad's with me on the job"

"Your old man still in harness, ch?" Speede queried "Swell gent, your old man Living proof that engineers can be white men I don't see how he keeps on boating this game I can't and you can't either —you'll see."

"Never mind about me," said Willett. "How about you? Why don't you drag out? They ought to give you a leave of absence"

"They?" Speede repeated tonelessly "There isn't any 'they' I resigned after the Jaurez job And my mother back in the States wants me to come along home. She's an old lady, Willett—I don't think I'll see her again if I don't go now"

Friday, a Fox named George is introduced.

KIWANIS, ROTARY UNITE FOR MEETING

Cincinnati Visitors Provide Entertainment for Thanksgiving Week Assembly.

Marion Kiwanians and Rotarians united for their Thanksgiving week program yesterday and were treated to a program of entertainment by George Campbell of Cincinnati, chairman of the music committee of Kiwanis International, and David Roebel, pianist of the Cincinnati Kiwanis club.

Mr. Campbell, one of the country's prominent Kiwanians, gave an informal talk consisting almost entirely of entertaining stories and anecdotes, and concluded by directing chorus singing by the club members Mr. Roebel played piano accompaniments and climaxed the program with a medley of popular collegeue tunes.

In addition to giving the luncheon club program, the Cincinnati visitors appeared yesterday at assemblies of Edison and Vernon Heights school pupils and last night gave a program at the Harding High school building before a meeting of H-Y and K-Y Torch club members and the Girl Reserves

In yesterday's meeting of the two luncheon clubs, held at Hotel Harding the Kiwanians were guests of the Rotarians, this being the weekly meeting day of the Rotary club The weekly session of Kiwanis, usually held on Thursday, was omitted this week because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Gene Hill, president of Rotary, had charge of the meeting and Harry Margwarth president of Kiwanis directed the program of entertainment

Approximately 140 members of the two clubs attended

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Roderick's Big Fish Fails To Excite Betty Gibbs.

I SAW very quickly that although Junior and Roderick are almost always gratifyingly assiduous in their proffers of aid to the women of their immediate family, their shyness was preventing them from offering to relieve Betty Gibbs of the scales she had just taken from her mother's car

They stood watching her, feet scuffing against each other in the fashion of embarrassed small boys the world over, but they made no attempt to aid her until they heard the insignificant cough which is my private signal to them when I do not wish to embarrass them by giving a direct command in public

Their eyes flew to mine, and I furtively but decidedly indicated the scales, and my wish that they should offer to carry them Betty had not seen the by-play—she was apparently absorbed in the scales—and I was glad of her somewhat theatrical preoccupation, for the boys were sending me agonized glances of appeal But I gave them an adamant gesture of command, and they reluctantly stepped forward to aid her

She Can Do It

"Aw! you can't carry that!" Junior said scornfully, and Roderick, with equal uncouthness, said Here' Hand it over

But Betty tossed her head importantly and hugged her scales more tightly, ignoring the outstretched hands of the boys as if she had not seen them

'I can carry them," she said "My mother wouldn't trust 'em to either of you They'd probably get broken And even if she would, I don't need any help I can do anything you two can do '

She turned and went up the steps of the little kitchen porch with a martial stride while Junior and Roderick exchanges looks of such deep disgust over feminine vagaries that, even with the shadow of illness and accident upon us, I had hard work to keep from laughing

"Sassy brat!" Roderick muttered, and Junior contributed an assenting, "You bet!" not, however, without a furtive glance at me. But I ignored both comments, pretending not to have heard them. Herding them before me as I might recalcitrant calves, I ushered them into the kitchen of the larger cottage, where, in the farther bedroom, transformed into a temporary nursery, our baby slept.

Betty Sees Fish

Williams had preceded us, and was lifting the fish creels from the floor to the table, on which he had spread protective papers. From the oil stove came the appetizing odors of soup and coffee, while I knew that in the small cupboard were potatoes, and some of the other culinary requisites of Mother's [illegible]

"They're not so much," Junior said with elaborate modesty. Roderick added 'Nothing to brag about ' But there was pride in every line of them as they plunged their arms into the creels, lifted their respective strings of fish and held them out for Betty's inspection.

"Oh!" she cried, "they're whoppers Look at that big one Who caught him?"

Junior Praises Rod

I waited tensely for the answer, wondering if their training would hold under this incentive for braggadocio from the one boy and discouraging silence from the other But, to my joyous relief, it was Roderick who remained silent while Junior said with apparently genuine enthusiasm

"Rod caught it, and it was the first big one anybody caught, and nobody else came near it again"

"Aw! it was just luck," Roderick protested, but there were telltale little signs which told me he was presenting himself for Bettys applause

"It was good handling, too' Junior, tongue-tied where he, himself was concerned, evidently was free from inhibitions while praising his cousin 'Boy! Did you play that fish, Rod! Your father," he turned to Betty, "said he did a splendid job."

"Did he tell you about the time I caught a pickerel, three times as big as this base, on a hook and line when my father and two other men in the boat never had a bite?

Madge Takes a Hand

Betty had decided that it was about time that these new fishermen were put in their proper place. But with the remembrance of Mr Gibbs laughing reference to this story and the certainty that there was somewhere in it a joke unknown to the child, I decided that it was time that I took a hand in the dialogue

"No, you didn't tell us, Betty," I said. "We'll be awfully glad to hear the story some other time Just now we must get these fish cleaned and over the fire. Mr Williams, will you please take off the biggest bass and weigh it on the scales? I'll start cleaning the others; and if you'll help me as soon as you get through weighing the fish, I shall be very grateful."

Injunctions.

The success of Louisiana rice millers, who have obtained from the U. S. supreme court a temporary injunction against collection of rice processing taxes under amendments to the agricultural adjustment act, directs attention to the importance of injunctions. In a period of tense controversy like the present one, they help to stabilize government.

Simply defined, the purpose of an injunction is to grant protection which cannot be obtained by ordinary court procedure. The injunction is a device of English jurisprudence; an early English case enjoined the defendant from cutting down a valuable grove, irreplaceable no matter what a court decision might be afterward. In the case of processing taxes, it would be impossible to get restitution for taxes paid and distributed by the government to farmers.

In the United States the injunction represents the only means of doing what many persons believe to be necessary for the prevention of legislative chaos—determination of the constitutional status of laws before they are enforced. It is significant that the new deal is confronted with a veritable flood of injunctions. This country, with its unique power of courts to declare legislative acts unconstitutional, has developed the injunction to a point of service it has not reached in any other country. It will be surprising if this implement of resistance does not incur the wrathful notice of those new dealers who so frankly resent any opposition to their program. They must regard it as a thorn in the side—even as a pain in the neck. The success of the Louisiana rice millers will encourage many other groups opposed to processing taxes to redouble their efforts to get the protection of injunctions while the constitutionality of the agricultural adjustment act is being determined.

The Red Menace.

Brazilian revolutionists, described in dispatches as communists, are making trouble in several major cities. Their outbreak is believed to be the beginning of a series of rebellions in other South American cities.

In the northern part of China, Gen. Yin Ju-Keng has set up an autonomous government which is to be known as the Autonomous Federation for Joint Defense Against Communism. In this case, the communists are the Chinese National government's officials. Gen Yin's state, if he can hold it together, will be a protectorate of Japan, which has no use for communists.

It is difficult to know sometimes who are the communists and who are their opponents. Occasionally, it seems as though communists believed in some common principle of government, but that theory doesn't stand up under examination. Gen. Yin, for instance, is overthrowing the party in power to prevent communism, yet by American standards, for instance, his subversionist activities mark him as a communist.

On the other hand, unless the Third International has fooled everybody, including itself, it can't be given either the credit or the blame for all the activities which go on under the general designation of communism. In most cases, the rebels who are given the name wear their communism lightly, if they wear it at all. Perhaps it is time to admit that the Red Menace isn't a movement directed from Moscow at all, but an insidious thing which has its source and its being in the natures of men who lust for violent overthrow of all things which seem to threaten them with discipline.

Blame Industry.

There is no satisfactory substitute for private employment. Direct relief and public work do not take the place of a job. Despite the certainty that unemployment is going to be a permanent problem in the United States, it still is customary, therefore, to think and talk in terms of a business pickup which will absorb all employable persons, relieving government of its relief burden.

Apparently, that is going to be the Roosevelt administration's approach to the problem, at least during the forthcoming year. Instead of condoning the fact that public relief threatens to be a permanent responsibility of government, the administration has taken the attitude that private employers are not providing enough jobs. President Roosevelt and some of his advisers apparently believe industry could create more jobs if it wanted to create them.

Statistics can be exhibited which seem to prove that industrial production has recovered as much as 90 per cent of normal volume while employment and payrolls lag many points behind. Even if statistics could be trusted implicitly, this would not be a damning charge. Because statistics can be produced to show there is no disparity between recovery and employment, however, the administration's charge is empty.

Industry could not be held directly responsible for a lag in reemployment even if it could be proved beyond doubt that a lag existed. Obviously, private employers will give jobs to as many persons as they can employ profitably. Private employers, much as they might like to do so, cannot create jobs which are not justified by demand for products. Blaming industry for an employment lag, therefore, is about the same thing as blaming the sky for not letting down rain in a dry season.

Thanksgiving.

Considerably more than half the world's population has wondered during the last year whether or not there would be sufficient food to go around.

Millions of the earth's inhabitants have been bowed down under political and religious oppression during the year, denied the right and in many cases the education to act like free men.

Pestilence and hunger have exacted enormous tolls of life. By far the larger portion of earth's inhabitants have existed in a state of acute need of life's bare necessities.

It would be unbecoming for the United States to celebrate Thanksgiving with an air of superiority, vainly boasting of this nation's productivity, tolerance and resourcefulness compared with that of other nations.

That was not the spirit of the first American Thanksgiving. The Plymouth settlers humbly thanked God for enabling them to survive in a strange land whose vast potentialities were unknown to them.

It is that spirit which should be recalled and should be renewed on Thanksgiving day in 1935. Despite hardships, despite its own errors, despite inequalities, nature has provided sufficient food. The nation has not been cursed by pestilence or major disaster.

The future still is hidden. It will be revealed detail by detail, both reassuring and forbidding, according to the merits and shortcomings of those who participate in the nation's activities.

Thanksgiving day, celebrated by some as a pagan feast, is observed properly only in a spirit of humility. Providence has permitted a population to survive.

Mr. Eccles Reassures.

Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the federal reserve board, is a student of banking. Whether or not he is a student of mass psychology remains to be seen.

At the close of last week Mr. Eccles made a statement about the recent activity in the stock market. He viewed the activity without alarm, asserting there was no inherent danger in it as long as it was confined to speculation out of cash. He denied that the federal reserve board has neglected its duty by not exercising the power to discourage booms which it possesses under the banking act of 1935. He explained that both he and the federal reserve board, being in touch with all details of the situation, were better informed as to what should be done and should not be done than their relatively uninformed and foolishly apprehensive critics.

It is true, as Mr. Eccles implies, that fear of runaway inflation is raising up bogeys which can be dispelled by persons fully acquainted with the facts. What Mr. Eccles apparently fails to understand, however, is the conviction of apprehensive critics that it is desirable to advertise to the country at the outset of a speculative boom his determination to use whatever brakes the federal reserve board has at its command. Such critics believe Mr. Eccles could have made his job easier in the long run by failing to encourage, even tacitly, a trend which eventually must be checked, either by artificial or natural means. In short, the critics sense in Eccles' theory "All's Well!" a repetition of the same bland optimism which helped to propel the country into a fever of speculation in the Coolidge and Hoover eras. That sort of thing is supposed to be out of place in the new deal.

It may not be an improvement but at any rate the crime situation, apparently has changed. According to newspaper photographs, blonds are doing most of the shooting now.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—George Gershwin continues one of the town's abyest celebrities, despite the seasonal avalanche of honors cascading from his Theater Guild operatic triumph. Pale, thin and harrassed by a chronic dyspepsia, he sits at the piano many hours daily.

In leisure he clings to pals of those bleaker days when his wandering fingers were seeking the arrangement of notes that formed "Rhapsody in Blue" and others that brought him world acclaim. His brother Ira, a lyricist, is even more self-effacing and rarely appears in public.

Gershwin lives around the corner on Riverside Drive from his friend Rube Goldberg and has watched the cartoonist's sons grow with an avuncular interest. He goes to many parties where he is naturally lionized to the piano and never tires improvising whatever they want to hear.

His devotions have long been centered on his picturesque father, whom everybody knew as "Pop." And the latter's passing recently was a crushing blow. Gershwin was born in Brooklyn and is in his early 30's. He is said to be one of the wealthiest modern composers.

Billy Rose annexed two of Broadway's most sensational press agents to three-sheet his circuses and oft-postponed "Jumbo" at the Hippodrome. They are Dick Maney, the original of the mad press agent in that Hecht-MacArthur hilarity, "Twentieth Century." And Ned Alvord, last of the Si Goodfriend silk-hatted species of theatrical trumpeting. Alvord continues to be tricked out in frock coat, checkered waistcoat and gates-ajar collar. Both Maney and Alvord have been ahead of shows from Broadway to Shanghai and for several weeks before the Hip premiere had that old corner waving and shrieking a bannered ballyhoo.

A Jim the Penman brings his little table and chair alongside a Radio City building after 11 p. m. He has the leonine head, rocklery voice and shock of white hair that suggests a Lloyd George. I asked the other night why he was never seen during the day. He explained not many were interested in such chirographic exploitation any more and never those in a hurry. Leisurely walkers, especially strolling lovers, were likely to stop in a mere larkish spirit. He added: "An old fellow out late at night also stirs a little sympathy."

There has been an artistic swing northward from Greenwich Village to the old Chelsea district around 23d street. It's a swing that worries landlords who have long watched the growing carnival and yap wagon spirit of the Village with disfavor. John Sloan is among the prominent deserters. Where he leads, others are likely to follow. The American Society of Illustrators recently opened headquarters in Chelsea. Their roster includes Dean Cornwell, John La Gatta, Will B. Johnstone and others of that ilk. Barney Gallant's desertion was also a wrench. His estaminet was one of the beacons of cha-cha. Only Madam Bertiotti's red inkery seems left among old timers.

Rudy Vallee has been chosen to head a worthy organization that will seek to restore a measure of vaudeville popularity. A popularity that has almost reached the vanishing point. Any shade of success will be welcomed by scores of performers who have never lost hope and who are still daily around corners near the Palace—a part of the great army of lay-offs. Vaudeville has many devotees of prominence. Alfred Lunt is one. So are Russell G. Colt, Will Irwin, Frank Crowninshield, Anita Loos, Charles M. Schwab and Max Gordon. Encouragement is felt on account of the variety revival now taking place in London and Berlin.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 27, 1925.

Reports showed that railroad traffic in and out of Marion had been unusually extensive on Thanksgiving day.

J. W. Jacoby, trustee for the Studebaker-Wulff Rubber Co., reported he had sold the company's Carey plant.

Elsworth E. Bean, 43, died at his home on North Prospect street.

The agricultural department of Ohio State university announced that Ira Marshall of Hardin county had broken the world's record in corn production. His record was 1,600.1 bushels on 10 acres.

It was estimated that 2,500 persons visited Epworth M. E. church to attend the farewell reception for Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Swank and to greet Dr. B. L. George of Middletown, successor to Dr. Swank as pastor of Epworth. Dr. Swank had been appointed superintendent of the Dayton Methodist district of the West Ohio conference after serving as pastor at Epworth 11 years.

First rehearsal was held for the annual charity minstrel show of Marion lodge of Elks to be given Dec. 7, 8 and 9. The show was under the direction of Harold Gilles of Chicago, representative of the Jno Bren Production Co., the same company which employed as directors the two comedians now famous as Amos 'n Andy.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Nov. 27, 1915.

A London dispatch reported that Austro-German and Anglo-French troops were expected to be locked in battle in Serbia within the next few days. From Rome came the report that Italian troops had captured St. Andrew, one of the suburbs of Gorizia, and were making steady progress in their movement to encircle the Austrian stronghold.

Misses Irene Thurston and Helen Waddell went to Wooster to visit Miss Bernice Holverstott, who was attending college there.

Misses Ada Monnett, Sophia Mack, Evalena McKinley and Ethel McKinley went to Indianapolis to be week-end guests of Mrs. Paul Blair.

Miss Mary Mulrow entertained a group of friends at her home on Olney avenue in honor of Miss Florence Brodbeck of Columbus, a guest of Miss Clara Voll.

A group of members of the high school junior class gave a birthday surprise party for Miss Lotus-Lily McCormick at her home on Bellefontaine avenue. In the group were Misses Ava King, Margaret Schaad, Nadine Shute, Isabelle Frank, Elizabeth Frank and Mary Anderson.

Behind The News In
Washington and Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—It may now appear that the boom ballyhoo from Washington is on. Official statements lately have exuded a fragrance which may seem to be faintly similar to the sweet-scented hand-outs of 1929.

First, Chairman Landis of SEC said publicly there was nothing he could do about stock prices going up and up. Then Gov. Eccles of FRB stepped out with an announcement which was headlined in New York: "Eccles holds hands off in stock boom." The new monthly FRB bulletin announced, a few days later, there was strength in the existing market situation. The A. F. of L. tagged along simultaneously with a prophecy of "an industrial boom within the next few years," which apparently left it a few years behind.

The only depressing note in all this encouragement was the warning of President Gay of the stock exchange. At the time of the Landis statement, he went on record as bemoaning the possibilities of a stock market boom.

If you will add all these things up, as most people are doing, you will most assuredly get the wrong answer. The other side of these boom balloons may not be visible to the naked eye, but there is another side.

Manicuring

It is discernible most clearly in the facts behind the Eccles statement. His remarks may have been subject to the interpretation that the federal reserve board has decided to keep its hands off. But he neglected to point out clearly that the board at least is having its hands manicured in preparation.

For instance, everyone but bankers may have forgotten that the federal reserve board has never issued regulation "U." This would be the regulation setting forth margin loan requirements for banks. Regulation "T" imposes restrictions on brokers, so they can lend no more than 55 per cent on most stocks. But a soft-hearted banker can lend as much as his heart will let him.

Bank loans on securities are not sufficiently heavy to warrant apprehension, but there are good reasons for suspecting that regulation "U" will be issued anyway before long.

Nails

When this regulation is issued, the board can proceed thereafter at any time to stiffen margin requirements on both banks and brokers. Also it can, any one of these days, increase reserve requirements of member banks. Further than that there is probably nothing effective which can be done about excess reserves.

These cautious deterrents are all understood to have been discussed at the meeting of FBR officials here last week, but no announcement was made about them. If one had been, the effect would have been opposite from that of Gov. Eccles' statement.

Dilemma

The basic situation behind all this is that the financial authorities of the new deal are agreed that the current market and business trend is up. They like it. They have convinced themselves that it is on a firm foundation. They do not want to do anything to stop it. Nor do they want to lay themselves open to misinterpretations of booming it.

This requires a lot of light-wire walking, in which there are bound to be occasional slips on both sides of the wire. So far, the New Dealers have favored the boom side.

Also hanging over them is the fact that they will have to act, sooner or later. They probably could have started acting this week without any important reaction. It is true that brokers' loans have not increased during the recent market rise. But, after all, they do amount to a billion dollars. Also, there is no excellent reason why banks should be permitted to lend more on margin than brokers, although the importance of that situation also is yet to be felt.

The firmness in the industrial situation is not being overplayed by all the uplift statements you are reading currently. It is not new. It is just getting to be official.

Omen

A few good labor insiders here suspect the resignation of John L. Lewis is another omen, the beginning of the end of the existing A. F. of L. organization set-up. What leads them to such an extreme suspicion is that Lewis is very close to the new deal, while most of the officials he left on the A. F. of L. executive board are not. They think he will be able to use the powerful sympathies of the administration in his technical fight for re-unionization.

His resignation does not mean that he is going to set up a competitive organization. He will continue to fight within the A. F. of L. The resignation was merely a dramatic gesture to help his fight along.

Spendthrift?

Mr. Hopkins, the great spender, is understood to be having his troubles paying some of his PWA bills. Half a dozen photographic agencies here have not been able to collect for publicity picture work, some of which dates back to last April and beyond. (Red tape and Comptroller General McCarl are supposed to be responsible.)

Among the items yet unpaid is one of twelve elegant portraits of Mr. Hopkins himself.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—New Yorkers comment that Chairman Jim Landis of the securities exchange commission may be unfamiliar with the wiles of Wall Street—but he certainly knows his vegetables when it comes to public relations. Even conservatives (except for those in the utility industry) admit that he scored a bull's eye with his apparent last minute retreat. His willingness to let holding companies qualify their registrations as void if the courts should hold that they had waived their constitutional rights by registering knocked out what astute neutrals describe as the only reasonable objection to registration.

It really wasn't as much of a concession as it looked. It merely restated the position Landis had already taken. But it leaves the holding groups which fail to register strictly on the defensive. It will be morally up to them to explain in terms of something besides legal technicalities why they could not see their way clear to comply with such an innocuous provision of the law.

Most of the larger groups are too deeply committed to a policy of non-registration to back down now. But insiders say that some of them are uneasily wondering whether they haven't overbid their hand.

Final

John J. Pelley is under fire from his own constituents as head of the Association of American Railways. A number of rail leaders are privately grumbling at his penchant for quarreling with Washington agencies. Lack of constructive achievement under his leadership is proclaimed.

The association was planned primarily as an agency to represent all railroads in fostering better public relations and establishing useful legislative contacts. Pelley was chosen to run it largely because of his reputation as a diplomat. He hasn't lived up to it. A few months ago he was vehemently demanding that Railroad Coordinator Joe Eastman be fired and his job be abolished. Most rail men figure that Eastman is the one man connected with the administration who really understands their problems and is willing and able to help them. Just recently Pelley got in Dutch again by playing the interstate commerce commission's proposed investigation of the New Haven bankruptcy (Pelley used to be president of the New Haven) as "shocking" and "ridiculous." That view the present New Haven management seems conspicuously not to share. Members of the association can't see how it profits them to have their spokesman calling the I. C. C. names.

Nor was Pelley able to do anything about blocking senate authorization of the Wheeler committee to investigate railroad finances or repassage of the rail pension act after the original measure had been thrown out by the courts. A New Yorker important in the rail world privately remarks: "Are we paying that bird $50,000 a year to get us in a worse jam than ever?" The association is sponsoring and steering the legal test of the new rail pension law. Insiders understand its success or failure will be taken as a final measure of Pelley's usefulness. His five-year contract may complicate matters if they try to ease him out.

Sensation

Betting is 7 to 3 in informed New York quarters that France will be off the gold standard before Dec. 15—actually if not officially. Such a move has been rumored many times before—but experts cannot see how the Laval government can withstand the terrific internal pressure of deflation any longer.

The best-posted sources also understand that Laval is on a much hotter spot than is realized outside of France as a result of the recent riot in Limoges where several deaths resulted from an encounter between the Croix de Feu and anti-Fascists.

This incident was minimized in foreign dispatches by the unobtrusive French censorship. But the leftist parties are plenty worked up and accuse Laval of secretly fostering the Fascist movement. They are trying to smoke him into taking a definite stand for or against the Croix de Feu. You can expect sensational news from France any day now.

Virtue.

Tammany is about to stage an exhibition of self control. The sudden death of Aldermanic President Bernard Deutsch gives it dominance of the New York City board of estimate. Substantial patronage is in reach now and the Tiger is achingly hungry. But orders have come down the line not to grab. It wouldn't do to stir up voters' memories now when recapture of the whole city administration is in sight.

No matter how it hurts, Tammany will continue to cultivate restraint and the appearance of virtue. Tammany Comptroller Frank J. Taylor has given a remarkable exhibition of cooperation with a Fusion mayor ever since he took office. The new president of the board of aldermen—Timothy Sullivan—will do the same. After all, the promised land isn't so far away.

Theme

GOP Chairman Henry Fletcher's special committee of 18 leading capitalists will undoubtedly replenish the party exchequer in a big way. But keen observers wonder how prominent identification of such conspicuously rugged individualists as William B. Bell, Charles Francis Adams, Ernest Weir, Sewell Avery and Silas Strawn with the GOP cause will sit with liberal Republicans in the West.

A New Yorker suggests the following for the committee's theme song:

Bell, Strawn and Avery, Adams and Weir
Think the new dealers are all out of gear,
They will raise plenty of dough, never fear—
Bell, Strawn and Avery, Adams and Weir.

Weir, Strawn and Avery, Adams and Bell
Think that the '20's were perfectly swell,
Aim to give braintrusters plenty of hell—
Weir, Strawn and Avery, Adams and Bell.

Franchise of Boston Braves Taken Over by League

FINANCIAL TROUBLE FOR SEVERAL YEARS GIVEN AS REASON

Action Most Drastic in 32 Years; Club's Debts Estimated at $325,000.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 — The Boston Braves baseball team was a National league orphan today, its franchise dangling before any one who would open his coffers to the risky business of baseball.

Beset with financial perplexities, the lowly Braves, who finished far in the cellar last season, were taken over by the league yesterday after the action was endorsed unanimously by the other presidents of the circuit.

It was the first time since 1903, when the league took over the franchise of the Philadelphia club, that such drastic action had been taken.

Statement Issued

Ford C. Frick, league president, said in a statement:

"This action was taken because of the failure of the Boston National League Baseball Co. to fulfill its contractual obligations over an extended period of time.

"As a result of this action, the National league is now in position to receive proposals for the acquisition of the Boston franchise and players' contracts and will consider all proposals submitted in writing to the president of the National league on or before the date of the annual meeting on Dec. 10, 1935, in Chicago.

"At this time no definite proposals have been submitted but the National league guarantees that there will be no break in the operation of the Boston National league baseball club in Boston which has operated continuously since 1876."

Will Clear Club Debts

The debts of the club are estimated to total $325,000. This amount, Frick said, would be cleared either by reorganization of the club ownership or by the league, if the latter finds it necessary to operate the club.

The meeting was attended by presidents of the league clubs, Charles F. Adams, majority stockholder of the Braves, and Maj. Francis Murphy who represented the minority stockholders. Adams controls 8,500 of the 15,000 shares.

A year ago, Judge Emil Fuchs, then club president, sought to operate a dog racing plant at Braves Field in order to solve his difficulties, but because of the gambling aspect the plan was frowned on by the league moguls.

As a result the Braves for a time were threatened with loss of the park. Later the league underwrote the rental of the field.

Just before the beginning last season, Babe Ruth was signed as vice president and assistant manager.

But the aging Babe failed to heighten the turnstile tempo, became embroiled with the club officials, and finally resigned. Fuchs stepped out in August as the Braves set up new records in losing ball games.

Army-Navy Game 45 Years Ago Humble Start of Grid Classic

Spectators Admitted Free; 80,000 Will Pay $250,000 To See Saturday's Tilt.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—It was on a blustery day, with the wind blowing across the plains of West Point, that several hundred hardy enthusiasts gathered 45 years ago to see the cadets play the midshipmen in a new-fangled game called football.

That engagement, which the sailors won 24 to 0, was the humble beginning of the service rivalry that has become fall's outstanding spectacle.

On Saturday 80,000 fans will jam the cement horseshoe of Franklin Field, Philadelphia, to thrill to the maneuvers of another Army-Navy battle. They'll pay around $250,000 for the privilege.

The crowd at the first game got in free—the players were proud to have spectators.

There was little mention of the game in the newspapers of that day. But this Saturday some 200 sports reporters will write about a quarter-million words about the soldiers and sailors.

Most of the members of the first two teams have passed on, but a few remain and several likely will be down front, where the gold braid is thickest.

To pay the midshipmens' expenses to West Point 45 years ago the cadets "chipped" in 62 cents each.

Nautical orders were the signals the sailors used. Navy's quarterback, the late Captain Moulton Johnson, barked: "Rise, tacks and sheets, let's go and overhaul the weather lifts" and the sailors tore into their flying wedge.

Masked Terror Tells Promoters All the News

Wrestling fans in Marion who have been concerned of the whereabouts of the Masked Terror can now breathe a sigh of relief. According to a letter received from the Masked Terror by Markert and Lewis, local promoters, he is now wrestling in Oklahoma. Although seemingly successful in his bouts in the southwest, he expresses a desire to return to Ohio and Marion.

The letter without changes is printed herewith:

BUCKEYE GRID TEAMS NEAR END OF SEASON

Three Games Thursday; Second and Third Place Standings at Stake.

A trio of Thanksgiving day games will complete the schedules of Buckeye conference teams for the 1935 season.

Only one of the games, the Miami-Cincinnati contest at Cincinnati, will have any bearing on the standings. The title has been won by Ohio university, with five straight victories, but second and third places will be in doubt in the Miami-Bearcat game.

Cincinnati is in third position but can climb into a tie with Ohio Wesleyan by defeating Miami and the dope, of course, is for the Bearcats to win. But Miami frequently has won these traditional turkey day games and might do so again. In the event of a Miami victory, Cincinnati would drop to fifth place in the standings.

The other games involving Buckeye teams Thursday will find Marshall at home to West Virginia Wesleyan in their annual Thanksgiving game at Huntington, W. Va., and University of Dayton at Cleveland where the Fliers will meet the luckless John Carroll team.

The other Buckeye teams, Ohio university and Ohio Wesleyan, finished their schedules last Saturday when Ohio beat the Bishops, 13 to 0, thereby becoming the only Ohio college team to go through the 1935 season undefeated and untied.

The standings:

Teams	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Ohio	5	0		1.000
Ohio Wesleyan	3	2		.600
Cincinnati	2	2		.500
Dayton	2	2	1	.500
Miami	1	2	1	.333
Marshall	0	5		.000

WORLD SERIES RIVALS TALK IT OVER

OHIO GRIDIRON TEAMS TO CLASH THURSDAY

Baldwin-Wallace, Ohio Conference Champs, Has Thanksgiving Game.

By The Associated Press

The Baldwin-Wallace Yellow Jackets, Ohio Conference champions who have run up a total of 412 points in nine games, turned in their practice suits today after reviewing Akron plays and polishing up on defense and offense strategy for tomorrow's battle in the rubber city.

Akron's speed and strength in upsetting Mount Union last week forced Coach Ray Watts of B.-W to guard against a let-down. Yesterday the Yellow Jackets worked out until after dark. The Zippers, too, have been making extensive preparations. The game is expected to draw the season's heaviest turnout at Akron.

B.-W. followers pointed out that the football team brought the college its third championship this year. The Ohio conference basketball and tennis titles had been won previously.

On other Ohio campuses today football men were counting the hours until training rules could be smashed after tomorrow's games.

Coach Clem Crowe of Xavier said his "boys never were in better shape" than at present. Xavier meets Centenary tomorrow.

John Carroll gridders, preparing to meet Dayton, feared that Eddie Baloga, halfback, would be unable to start because of a cut over one eye and bruises suffered in an auto accident.

Case and Western Reserve held strenuous workouts for their annual encounter tomorrow. The Rough Riders concentrated on defensive maneuvers designed to stop Ray Zeh of Reserve.

GOVERNOR-ELECT TO PLAY IN GOLF DUEL

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 27—Governor-elect A. B. "Happy" Chandler, 37-year-old former gridiron and baseball star, today accepted a challenge from Mayor Neville Miller of Louisville to play a match for the "official" golf championship of Kentucky.

The two will fight it out on the Audubon Country club course here Dec. 8, they announced, two days before Chandler's inauguration.

"Attorney General-elect B. M. Vincent has inquired painstakingly into the law against dueling in Kentucky," Chandler wrote. "He finds that a golf match such as you suggest would not bar me from taking the oath of office, and I hereby accept your challenge."

No governor so far has disputed the claim of Chandler's friends that Kentucky's next governor will be the champion golfer among all the governors in the United States.

Chandler has turned in many cards in the 70's and at least one 74 is claimed for him. Mayor Miller's handicap at the Louisville Country club indicates he shoots in the low 80's.

PHILADELPHIA SET FOR BUSY WEEK-END

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 27—Hotel and restaurant men, beaming at football business ahead, engaged extra help and estimated today visitors in Philadelphia for Army-Navy and Penn-Cornell games will spend $1,000,000.

The Penn-Cornell Thanksgiving day event and the Army-Navy affair Saturday, they said, will stretch the week-end into at least four days for many of the thousands on thousands in the football invasion.
